

ABSTRACT

A stacked table assembly structure consisting at minimum of two levels of tabletops having leg rods of differing height stacked beneath a main table such that the tabletops are horizontal and in which coaster wheels are mounted on the leg
5 rods to enable movement to thereby provide for extension and retraction to suit environmental space conditions or accommodate use by numerous persons.